At this point, we again take turns praying prayers of repentance for the evils we have done today. Although at times it is difficult to admit our failures openly, this requires great humility and builds accountability among family members or friends who participate in this prayer time. Repentance is a vital but often avoided part of most public and many private prayers. When confessions have been made, tears have subsided and hearts are clear, we proceed with the "ASKING."

I continue. "Lord, we ask You to grant our petitions for these people we know who have specific needs. First, we bring our family before You!"

We would now pray for specific members of our family. We do not ask God just to "help" them or "bless" them. We ask in detail!

- * If a person is unsaved, we ask God to save them.
- * If one is sick, we ask God to heal his/her infirmity, to give him/her strength to endure the suffering and to teach each of us the character lesson.
- * If one is struggling through a difficult time, we might say "Please supply wisdom and guidance so they may know what to do (when, where, and how)."

We strive to be as specific as possible about times, dates, names and needs. This way we know when God hears and answers our prayers. Keeping a prayer log can also be very encouraging.

When the needs of our family and relatives have been brought before the Lord, we move on to "friends and neighbors, then missionaries, leaders, sick, etc. (See inside right page. A = Ask. #1). Obviously, this section alone can consume an hour or more, if you desire. You may wish to limit each category to a few entries or choose only one category per prayer or session.

When the "asking" is complete, we move on to the fourth and final step -- YIELDING. "Lord, we submit these petitions according to Your will. You know what is best for us and these we have lifted up in prayer. We want Your divine plan to be accomplished so that You will receive the honor and glory You alone deserve. In Jesus' name (We may list one or more of His matchless names.) we pray all these things. Amen."

Let's P.R.A.Y.

by Evangelist Randy V. Merrill

In Matthew 6:9-13, Jesus told his disciples "After this manner therefore pray ye." While studying the "manner" of this model prayer, the simple acronym P.R.A.Y. emerged.

P = Praise

R = Repent

A = Ask

Y = Yield

By utilizing this praying tool, my family and I have rediscovered the joy of meaningful and measurable communication with God. As I shared this with other pastors and evangelists, it quickly spread. Books have been written and the National Day of Prayer also used this as their slogan one year. Now you can do it too.

➔ Here's how it works!

As I direct our family or a group prayer time, I begin by PRAISING God. "Dear Lord, You are worthy of our praise. That's why we've knelt here to exalt You for Your..."

As I stop praying, one person after another gives a praise prayer for one member of the Godhead or one of God's attributes. Sometimes we praise the same attribute or Person depending on our present circumstances or Bible study. We may all pray several times in random order (conversationally, not confusingly) limiting our thoughts to praise alone. Other topics, needs and people will be dealt with later.

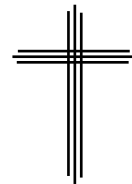

When we have "unloaded" our praises sufficiently, I lead the group in REPENTING of sin by saying something like "Lord, because You are so great, we cannot help but see ourselves as frail, wicked and miserable sinners. Today each of us have sinned in Your sight and in the sight of others. Instead of living "soberly, righteously and godly in this present world," we allowed our fleshly natures to dominate in the areas we're about to mention. We're sorry. We ask You to forgive us as we repent and confess by name these sins we have committed."
